5. The RAF reserves the right to withdraw support from an event at any time and without consultation where circumstances require. These include but are not limited to engineering issues, adverse weather or operational commitments. The RAF cannot be held accountable for any costs incurred by an event organiser as a result of such a withdrawal.

REGULATION OF FLYING DISPLAYS

6. There is a statutory requirement for event organisers to comply with CAA publication CAP 403: Flying Displays and Special Events (www.caa.co.uk/cap403). Please note, if your event includes a flying display by civilian aircraft, CAA permission is required under Article 86 of the Air Navigation Order. Civilian events with air displays by military aircraft only, including those held over non-MOD land, are classified as military displays and are subject to the MAA's Regulatory Article (RA) 2335.
7. Where the regulations require it, a suitably qualified Flying Display Director (FDD) must be employed. FDDs are responsible to the CAA for the safe conduct of flying displays. The RAF does not provide FDDs for civilian events.
8. Details of the requirements for an FDD, FDD accreditation and a list of accredited FDDs is available at :

<https://www.caa.co.uk/General-aviation/Displays,-events-and-activities/Flying-displays-and-special-events/>

CHARGES

9. Air displays (including the Falcons Parachute Display Team) and some flypasts will be chargeable. Detailed information on charges can be obtained from the RAF Air Events Team at the number(s) below.

FLYPASTS

10. A Battle of Britain Memorial Flight (BBMF) flypast comprises three passes, for which charges may apply.
11. All other flypasts are normally undertaken either by a display aircraft in transit, or by an operational aircraft on a routine training sortie. Under these circumstances, no charges would normally apply. Aircraft launched for a dedicated flypast may attract charges.

STATIC DISPLAYS

12. A static display is a ground attraction at an airfield for which display and insurance charges will apply. Physical security (provided by the RAF) will be required.
